About the Village Video Cooperative

Video cameras are one of the best methods for detecting and apprehending criminals or discovering suspicious activity. Police regularly ask businesses and individuals to share surveillance footage that might aid crime-solving efforts. The Village Video Cooperative is a new crime prevention and investigative tool for the Prairie Village Police Department. We work with participating property owners who have video systems viewing public areas, such as streets, sidewalks, and parking lots. After a crime is committed, or suspicious activity reported, we can use a map to quickly identify and contact VVC partners in the vicinity who may have captured footage related to the reported incident. The Prairie Village Police Department encourages businesses and residents to voluntarily register any security cameras that view and record public areas within the city.

Why is Prairie Village doing this?

The goal of the Village Video Cooperative is to deter crime and promote public safety through collaboration between the police and community. Registering privately-owned surveillance cameras can help leverage existing resources and technology to maximize our chances of detecting criminal activity, provide investigative leads, and apprehend criminals.

How does the program work?

If a criminal incident takes place in the vicinity of your camera, you may be contacted by the Prairie Village Police Department. Police personnel may request you review and/or provide recorded footage related to the date and time of the incident. Video obtained from privately held security cameras may be used to apprehend and prosecute criminals. When the immediacy of a crime dictates, a Prairie Village Detective may ask to view your footage on-site.

How do I register my camera(s)?
